

One-third of the people exonerated by DNA testing nationwide were arrested between the ages of 14 and 22. They served a combined total of 947 years in prison for crimes they didn't commit. Sign the petition below to help the Innocence Project ensure that innocent inmates can get access to DNA testing that can overturn wrongful convictions.

Everyone Deserves Justice: DNA Access Petition

I support DNA testing in every case where it can overturn a wrongful conviction or confirm guilt. Everyone deserves justice, and there is no reason to deny testing that could lead to the exoneration of an innocent person. Post-conviction DNA access benefits the wrongfully convicted and their families and it also helps crime victims, prosecutors, law enforcement officers and the public because it often identifies the true perpetrators of crimes.

The few states without DNA testing laws should immediately enact reforms that explicitly allow access to post-conviction testing.

All 50 states should have laws that ensure that DNA testing, when it has the possibility to overturn a wrongful conviction, is:

- available to every person convicted of a crime, regardless of whether he or she is currently incarcerated;
- available regardless of whether a convicted person confessed, pled guilty, or has exhausted his or her appeals; and
- not subject to an expiration or sunset date.
